ARTIST christopher dennison

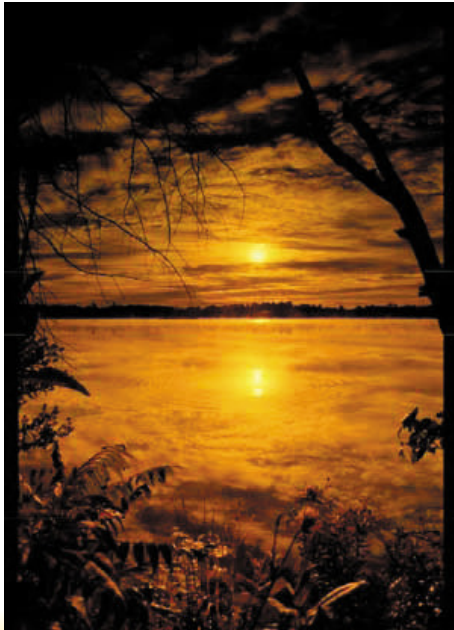

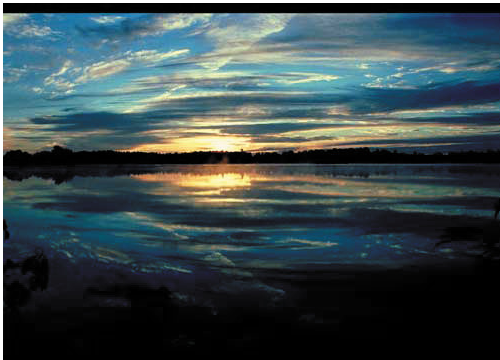

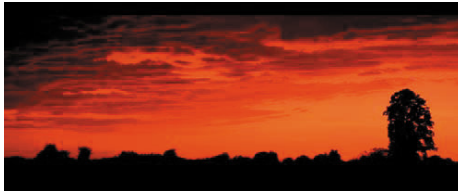

biography

Christopher Dennison's extreme patience and acute attention to detail capture nature in its most beautiful moments through the eye of his camera. Not only do Christopher's photographs evoke emotion in viewers, his nobility for perfection enables his work to stand out.

Born in Ontario, Canada, Christopher recalls an interest in small manual film cameras as early as age ten. By thirteen he had a full understanding of all basic camera functions, which later granted him his first award-winning photograph. Although his adolescent years were somewhat sheltered, Christopher later traveled to India and China with his martial arts instructor to further his training and study Mandarin Chinese. He honors an enlightened awareness to humanity, health and wellness to his teacher and these travels. His views, habits, and beliefs were transformed towards a more harmonious existence with nature.

Christopher has perfected his photography skills in both colour and black and white mediums on transparency, negative and digital. In his quest to record the exquisite contours of the earth, Christopher discovered an appreciation for portrait photography. With extensive experience in both fields, he founded Click-It Photography which now offers a full range of services including weddings, engagements and corporate events, with a commitment to fine art. Christopher forever considers himself a student, and continues to expand his knowledge in photography. His pursuit for perfection never ends.

To date, Christopher has won three awards for his outstanding photography, two of which have been published. Currently, he can be found on display at the Norman Felix Gallery along with several Art Walk locations within Toronto, Ontario, Canada.

artist statement

Long ago, I began this journey photographing the surface of things. After years of observation, my focus turned to the internal. Now, my images seek to express a fusion of the two. Enjoy.
